My Favorite Quarter Mile.

With this Holiday Season well on it's way, many of us will take the opportunity to spend time with family and friends. I always look forward to my favorite quarter mile. It's not a speedway, or at best it is not even tarred, yet it will make my heart race every time my family and I drive on it. It is the quarter mile topped in gravel that leads to my parents home. This home is full of history. It was built by my grandfather who passed away before I ever had a chance to meet him. My Aunts, Uncles and my father were raised in this house, as well as my brother and I. A visit to my parents home is a visit to a history full of warm stories and warm hearts. Christmas is on it's way again and we will make the same drives this year as we have made many times before. Even if the news is grim regarding the economy, don't let go of the trips you have always taken to see the ones you love. Find your favorite quarter mile and wear out your vehicle driving down it.

Happy Holidays
